WANTED, A GRAVING DOCK .- It will be seen by the letter from our esteemed European correspondent, that a large graving dock is to be constructed at Esquimalt, B. C. This is just what Honolulu needs, for repair of large (as well as small) seagoing vessels. The existence of such a convenience at this port would make it more than ever the entrepot of the commerce of the Pacific, especially in view of the coming isthmus canal, the Southern Pacific railway, and the trans-Pacific telegraph cable. But private enterprise, with capital from abroad, must build our

AN OLD ACQUAINTANCE .- By a recent arrival from the coast we were pleased to welcome Mr. Thomas Tannatt and wite, former well-known resi dents of this city, who left us some five years since with the intention of settling in Arizona. Having thoroughly tried the new state, our friends appear to have concluded that it was a very good country to emigrate from-at all events, like many others who in former years have gone out from us, they are glad to find themselves once more in these sunny isles of the sea, where they propose to make a permanent stay. We learn that Mr. Tannatt will shortly open a shop in his former business, of which due notice will be given.

SANCTUM FIENDS -This is the pet name applied by editors to visitors who make themselves at home in the office in the absence of the chief scribe, by overhauling exchanges and leaving things in disorder. Now what may appear to such persons to be "ad-mirable confusion" on the editor's table, is to him the most perfect order, and which their irruption entirely oversets. But the gravest outrage is yet to be mentioned -the mutilation of the sanctum files ! This unpardonable offence was recently perpetrated in our sanctum, by a party or parties unknown, and who are hereby notified that we shall hereafter have these treasures guarded by a poculiarly savage dog.

SUICIDE IN THE STATION-HOUSE.—Yesterday morning early, a man named Matthew Pettigrew, aged about 40, a boiler-maker by trade, and a Scotch-man by birth, who had been locked up over night on a charge of drunk was found dead in the cell. having evidently strangled himself sometime dur ing the night with his suspenders. He was found by the police about 10 o'clock on Thursday night. on Kaahumanu street, without shoes or hat, and on being taken to the station and interrogated by Mr. McDuff, gave such wandering and incoherent answers that it was considered best to lock him up for the night. Yesterday forenoon a coroner's jury was impanelled by Deputy Marshal Dayton consisting of Messrs, G. West, Henry Hart, A. H. Mossman, J. S. Webster, Jas. Lycett, and W. H. Huddy, who, after viewing the body and hearing the evidence adduced, returned as a verdict that " Deceased came to his death by strangulation by his own hand while in a state of delirium." It is stated that Pettigrew had been drinking heavily for some days, but had sworn off." and the result of the sudden discontinuance of stimulants resulted in

THE THEATRE. - The Zoe Gayton Dramatic Company gave their initial performance at the Royal Hawaiian Theatre on last Thursday evening, and to a well filled house. The plays produced were the romantic drams "Miami," otherwise known as "Green Bushes," and the farce "Margery." The various parts were fairly sustained, but there was a noticeable lack of adherence to the text, and also a superabundance, at times, of gesticulation, all of which may possibly be attributed to a first night before a strange audience. In the drama, Miss Zoe Gayton, in the dual parts of Miami and Madam St. Aubert made a fine stage appearance, and her delivery of the lines of the parts showed study and selfalso Miss Amy Nelson as Geraldine. Mr Walton's Connor O'Kennedy was good ; but Murtagh, Mr. Bradley, was so wild and profane at times, as to spoil the points of many of his speeches by compelling some of the auditors to close their ears. Mr. Perkins (Grannidge, and Mr Francouer (Jack Gong) endeavored to amuse and fairly succeeded. In the farce the various characters were fairly, and only fairly sustained, but under the circumstances it might be uncharitable to draw a comparison between the " Rough Diamond " cast of the California Theatre Company and the "Margery" cast of the present combination. A pleasing addition to the evening's entertainment was the rendering of a and when the newly framed laws were passed by the Teutonic ballad, relating to "one dollar and fifteen cents," by Mr Farrie of the Lackawanna, and which gave sufficient satisfaction as to gain an encore. The ulations relating to seamen. No candid observer on performances were witnessed by His Majesty and suite, and also by the captains and numerous officers of the men-of-war in port. " Sea of Ice," under the patronage of Captain Chandler and officers of the Lackawanna, will undoubtedly draw a good house to-night. "Leah the Forsaken" is underlined for Monday night.

[From our Regular Correspondent.] Letter from Europe-No. 32. LONDON, Dec. 1st, 1879. ADMIRAL PAULET, Whose name holds an important place in the annals of Hawaiian history, died November 22d, at his house at Mariborough-hill. Lord George Paulet, C. B., who was a son of the late Marquis of Winchester, entered the navy in 1817, and served off the Portuguese coast during the civil war in 1832-33. In 1843, while commanding in the Pacific, he taxed at $7, seized the fort at Honololu, Feb. 25, and raised The King the English flag, as many old residents may still remember. He administered the government of the Hawaiian Islands till July 31, when Admiral Thomas restored the sovereignty of the Kingdom. During the Crimean war Admiral Panlet took part in the attack on Sebastopol with his flagship the 1837-40 accompanied Dumont d'Urville on a voyage round the world, and wrote an account of it in 20 volumes, entitled, "Voyage to the South Pole and in Oceania," has also just died at Ton-

She passed through many thrilling adventures, and her life was the very reverse of the sunny, lotus-eating existence she had so much enjoyed in the Hawaiian Archipelago." Probably her numerous Hawaiian friends will be glad thus to bear again from this adventurous lady-traveller. ESQUIMALT DOCKYARD having been declared untenable in case of an attack by a hostile fleet such as Russia now has in the North Pacific, the Government has decided to erect certain defensive works at Nanaimo, the British coaling station. The projected graving dock at Esquimalt will be of great importance for vessels frequenting the Pacific. It is to be constructed next year, and will be 400 feet long, 90 broad at top and 41 at the floor, with a depth from high water level of 264 feet. A graving dock of these dimensions will naturally attract from all to-morrow, for the purpose of contributing to the parts of the Pacific all vessels needing overhauling

There now remain only 500 convicts in New Caledonia, where in 1873 over 4,500 were sent out. A French transport has sailed from Toulon for Noumea with 1.050 troops on board.

NAVAL NEWS. H. M. S. Opal, Capt. Robinson, has been ordered home from the Pacific. The German corvette Bismarck has sailed from Sydney for a three months' trip through the South Pacific, with the new Consul-General, Captain Zembach, on board. Annual Report of the Executive Committee. Whatever changes have passed over the world during the last quarter, the Honolulu Sailor's Home, has continued onward in its career of unefulness. Its doors have always been open and accompdations always provided for those for whom it was built and others who concluded to avail themselves of its privileges. The laying of the corner stene of an edifice destined to add to the welfare and happiness of Seamen is an occasion interesting to every member of this community. The hardships with which the sailor contends, and the dangers which he braves bring us case and security. Had he never steered his ships into our waters, Honolulu might simply have retained its position as a fishing village or become by this time a deserted beach. I hope the day has passed for any class of men to be valued only for their strength, and adaptability to the purposes of others. The sailor, the miner, the seamstress, and even the slave. > It should not be forgotten that in the early days of the Home, representation of Government officers among the Trustees led to a thorough review and remodeling of Hawaiian Laws relating to the proper treatment of seamen. Some years ago, when the friends of seamen in the United States desired the enactment of new laws relating to seamen, copies of our Laws and regulations were applied for, possibly review the history of the Home for a quarter of a century and not acknowledge its great usefulness to seamen, strangers and others. At the present time all our Consuls send their distressed seamen thither when they are not under medical treatment at the Queen's Hospital.
